Updated guidelines, pushing infrastructures and innovation

Innovation driving ongoing move to hi-tech cloud services

Unidata has updated development of operations and guidelines for 2024-27, emphasizing the momentum of hi-tech cloud services and its focus on own ongoing projects and achievements in IoT, Cybersecurity, 5G and Public-Private Partnerships. According to Management, innovation, driver of high-margin revenues, is increasingly complemented by the investment in infrastructures, remarkably adding a new Data Center.

Key guidelines: 2026 revenues expected at €133-135m, target extended to €140-145m for 2027. EBITDA margin in the range 27-28%. Over the 2025-27 period, forecast cumulative CapEx is around €57m. Net financial debt is projected to drop to €10m, from the present level of over €40m. Opportunity of debt refinancing to reduce interest expenses and expedite CapEx initiatives.

Unicenter - ready to service in 2025

Unicenter project, which will feature a 16MW Colocation Data Center located in Rome's Commercium area covering 13,600 sqm, is expected to start and be operational in 2025. Unidata will be both selling and managing the colocation services as well as providing connectivity solutions.

Unitirreno - deal with Fastweb

Unidata announced a partnership with Fastweb that will purchase a section of the submarine cable, which is expected to be ready for service in June 2025, the deal includes option to extend to additional segments.

Continuity with our value assessment

In our understanding of the comprehensive development strategy underpinning Unidata's growth trajectory, the updated guidelines and envisaged outlook are consonant with our valuation framework and value perspective, implying a minor materiality on fluctuations in revenues and margins. Thus, we anticipate an overall alignment of our 2024 P&L to Company guidance, while we will update and extend full estimates and valuation when more comprehensive financial information will be available.

Target Price €6.60 per share and OUTPERFORM rating confirmed

According to our assessment of Unidata updated guidelines and operations outlook, we confirm our latest target price of €6.60, implying a potential upside over 100% on current market price. OUTPERFORM rating confirmed.
